

Jewish Approach to Dying, Death, Consoling, Mourning, and Remembering

with Rabbi David Lerner

Sunday mornings: January 6, 20, & 27

Minyan: 9 am
Class: 9:45–11 am

Rabbi Lerner will be teaching about the mechanics of Jewish rituals surrounding death. The course is not about loss and grief, but will answer the questions regarding what to do, and why, as Jews, we do what we do. It will address, with great sensitivity, the needs of the modern Jewish family with all of its complexity, and is recommended for adults who have never suffered a loss, as well as for those who have faced many. Topics will include:

- end of life decisions
- autopsy
- what to bring to a shiva house
- mourning a non-Jewish relative
- what should be on a gravestone
- ... and much, much more

In collaboration with the Adult Ed, Bereavement, Hineni, and Keruv Committees

FREE OF CHARGE

Pre-registration is helpful for production of handouts.

Drop-ins are welcome at any or all sessions.

For more information contact
Kathy Macdonald (knmacdonald@verizon.net; 781/862-6494) or Beth Levine (levfam4@rcn.com; 781/862-8127).

RSVP to Maria Espinoza (rabbisec@templeemunah.org)

